The Star frequently collides with the Gazette on editorial policies but has a wholesome respect for its editor. How many men live to be 100 and are still writing?

On Tuesday I recommended that you see the CBS TV documentary "Appointment With Destiny," the fabulous story of Hernan Cortez's meeting with Montezuma and the fall of the Aztec empire in Mexico, 1517-1521.

It was a disappointing show, but I saw it through to the end. TV is a pictorial medium, and if the picture isn't up to par you lose what it's all about. The documentary was a silent picture with a narration by Loren Greene. But the picture being indifferent the performance suffered the limitations of an old-time "magic lantern" slide show.

Of course I was writing from the viewpoint of the world-famous book, "The Discovery and Conquest of Mexico," written by Bernal Diaz del Castillo, a soldier in the army of Cortez.

What CBS put on the screen Wednesday apparently was a rough-draft Mexican documentary with disjointed action and poor color.

The documentary should have concentrated on the central theme—the expulsion of one of the ancient Aztec gods and the legend that he had vowed to return in the guise of a white man, and the Aztecs mistook the invader Cortez for that god.

This was in the documentary, but obscured by confusing battle scenes.

The Cortez-Montezuma tale was done in the grand manner some years ago by an American film company starring the late Tyrone Power. It was a credit to U.S. entertainment. Wednesday's documentary was not. I could have written a better scenario myself.

Truman listed in critical condition

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman, fighting congested lungs and a weakened heart, remained on the critical list today after spending a restful night with his wife and daughter at his bedside.

A spokesman at Research Hospital and Medical Center said at 7:15 a.m. EST that Truman's "vital signs continue to be stable as they have been during the night. His temperature has decreased slightly to 101 degrees. Respiration and cardiac function are stable."

The hospital said Truman's wife and daughter left the hospital about 6:15 a.m., "with no scheduled time of return announced."

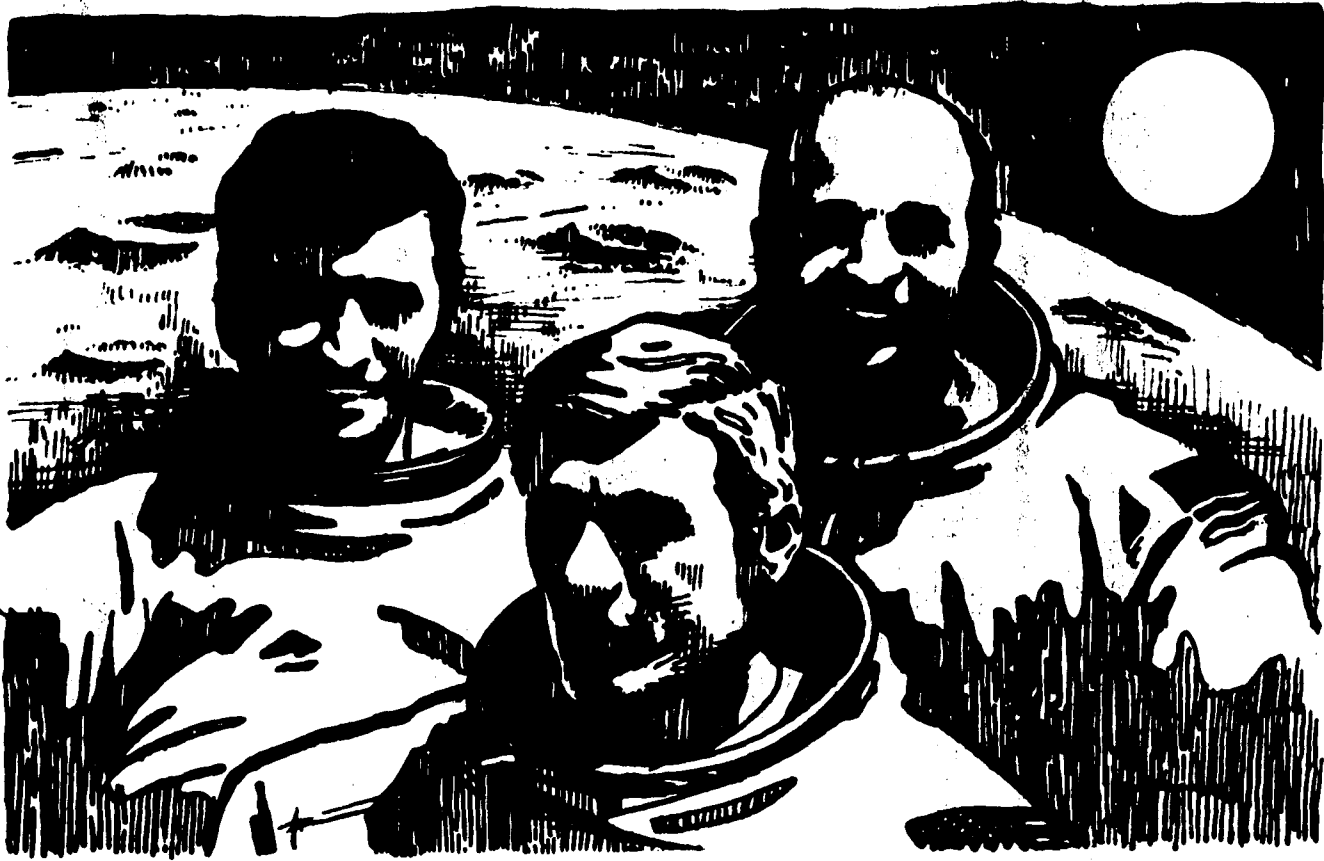

Earlier this morning the hospital said that fluid in the former president's lungs had diminished and that attending physicians were "optimistic" about the chances of removing him from the critical list.

At one point late Wednesday night, Truman's temperature was reported as 102.8.

Dr. Wilson Miller, consulting internist, was quoted in an early morning medical bulletin as saying he is "satisfied with his cardiac situation at present."

Apollo 17 blasts off late

Enroute to moon!

By PAUL RECER
Associated Press Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The men of Apollo 17 streaked toward the moon today, leaving behind the cares of a cranky computer that delayed their journey for nearly three hours. They left on man's last planned 20th century lunar voyage with a liftoff lightshow which turned earth's night to noon.

"Good show, babe! Little late, but good show!" cried a relieved and elated commander Eugene A. Cernan as he and crewmates Dr. Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt and Ronald E. Evans rocketed away from Cape Kennedy.

"We had to work at it," said Mission Control. "Glad we made it."

"Guess who else is," said a happy Jack Schmitt, a Harvard-trained geologist who became the first American scientist in space.

After the launch, the first ever in darkness, the astronauts orbited earth twice and then were propelled on a path toward the moon, where they hope to find the missing links in man's knowledge of lunar evolution.

The smooth flight was blemished by only two small, nagging, but not serious problems. An alarm system in the cabin of the spacecraft was sounding without reason whenever the astronauts threw certain switches. Cernan also reported for a time that not all the latches which lock the command module and the lunar module together had operated.

Mission Control said the alarm system problem was not serious enough to affect the mission and the uncooperative latch later took hold.

It was a more serious problem earlier, however, that delayed Apollo 17's launch. Officials on the ground said the last time would be recovered by a speeded up voyage to lunar orbit and Monday's moon landing would occur at the originally scheduled time.

A computer which refused to acknowledge a manual signal from launch control technicians caused the Apollo 17 countdown to stop less than a half minute before the huge Saturn 5 rockets were to ignite.

Battling against time, engineers at Cape Kennedy and at the Marshall Spaceflight Center at Huntsville, Ala., quickly developed and tested a plan to outwit the confused computer. The new system worked and Apollo 17 blasted into space at 12:13 a.m. EST, less than an hour before the ever-changing position of sun, earth and moon would have forced a 24-hour postponement.

Despite the countdown, the launch was smooth and spectacular.

While hundreds of thousands of persons watched from Cape Kennedy viewing areas, the 36-story Saturn 5 rocket lifted slowly, majestically from its nest of concrete and steel, climbing into a nearly clear, black Florida sky.

For more than six minutes, the rocket's 2,200-foot tail of flame burned away the darkness and lighted the sand flats and Atlantic beaches where the awed crowds watched.

After orbiting earth for nearly three hours, the astronauts re-ignited the third stage of their Saturday 5 rocket. The powerful thrust sent them hurtling out of earth's gravity grasp and put them firmly on their way to the moon.

About an hour later, at 5:20 a.m. EST, the astronauts freed their command ship from the third-stage rocket, which is called the SAB. The spacemen turned their cone-shaped craft and linked its pointed nose with the lunar module, which still nested in the SAB.

After securing three latches which had earlier failed to engage properly, the astronauts activated a spring system which ejected the combined command ship America and lunar module Challenger from the SAB.

"Oh, boy," said Evans happily. "Here we go. It came right out of there."

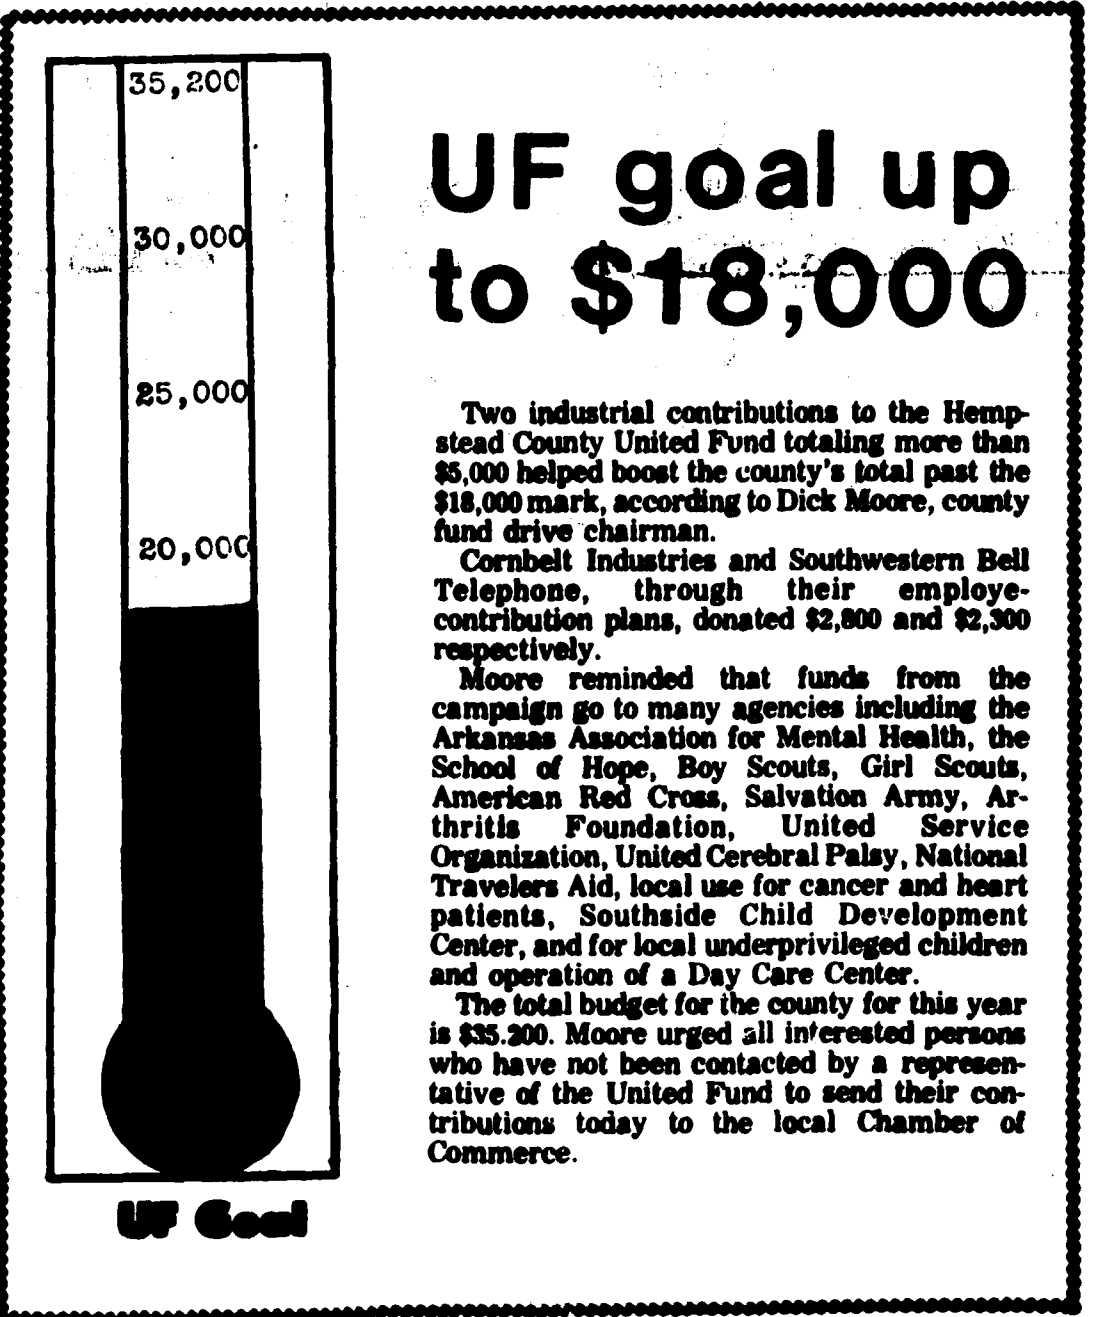

The SAB spent rocket stage was maneuvered away from the command ship and then ordered by radio signals to vent its remaining oxygen and hydrogen.

The venting sent the rocket hull speeding away, toward the moon. The SAB will crash into the lunar surface on Sunday, causing seismic waves that will excite instruments left on the moon by previous Apollo missions.

Apollo 17's destination is a valley of the moon thought to have been carved by lunar volcanoes. Cernan, the silver-haired, 38-year-old mission commander, and Schmitt, a geologist on the most important field trip of his life, will guide the lunar module they call Challenger to a moon landing among ancient mountains.

The landing is scheduled for 2:55 p.m. EST Monday.

The site, called Taurus-Littrow for nearby moon features, is thought to contain rocks and dust that will be among the oldest and youngest on the moon.

UF goal up to $18,000

Two industrial contributions to the Hempstead County United Fund totaling more than $5,000 helped boost the county's total past the $18,000 mark, according to Dick Moore, county fund drive chairman.

Cornbelt Industries and Southwestern Bell Telephone, through their employee-contribution plans, donated $2,800 and $2,300 respectively.

Moore reminded that funds from the campaign go to many agencies including the Arkansas Association for Mental Health, the School of Hope, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, American Red Cross, Salvation Army, Arthritis Foundation, United Service Organization, United Cerebral Palsy, National Travelers Aid, local use for cancer and heart patients, Southside Child Development Center, and for local underprivileged children and operation of a Day Care Center.

The total budget for the county for this year is $35,200. Moore urged all interested persons who have not been contacted by a representative of the United Fund to send their contributions today to the local Chamber of Commerce.

Crochet a rainbow sweater

By JUDY LOVE

The little sweater is right up front at crochet corner this season. Turn just any corner and you'll see snug, shorty styles paired up with matching close-fitting hats.

In this year of the sweater, a smart custom-crochet combo turns out in stripes. Work your pullover and cap in a bright rainbow of color, a dazzling match-all pair on or off the slopes.

Speaking of slopes, whether you're atop the mountain on skis or with a sled under your arm, the wind's going to blow. This body snug sweater and head-hugging hat will keep you toasty warm without the undesired bulk when you're hard at play.

If you're not a snow bunny, you'll look the sporty part wearing your new strippers over slacks and skirts. Working with Coats and Clark's "Red Heart" knitting worsted, you needle-workers size 8 to 14 can combine any group of their large selection of colors to go with your winter wardrobe.

A size H crochet hook in hand, start with the waistband of the pullover. The striped pattern is worked from the right side breaking off at the end of each row. Complete the back shaping, armholes, shoulder and neck shaping. A border is crocheted around the armhole to match the waistband and wristbands.

Now work the front as the back. The sleeves are started at the wristbands and worked up in same striped pattern. Sew in your sleeves and complete the neck band.

Crochet a couple of winners for winter on or off the slopes. This striped shorty sweater and matching head-hugging hat are colorful chill-chasers from sizes 8 to 14.

On to the hat. Round and round the stripes go to fit 20 through 22 head size.

There you have it—a couple of casual crochets to charm the chill out of any entry day. Easy-to-follow directions for this colorful pair can be obtained by simply sending 50 cents to Stitchin' Time, c/o your local paper, Radio City Station, Box 983, New York, N.Y. 10010. Ask for leaflet S336 and be sure to include your name, address and zip code.

KNIT KNACKS

Dear Judy: I've completed all the pieces of my first knitting endeavor—a pull-over sweater. I'm teaching myself to knit, but could use some advice. Should I block the pieces before or after I put them together, and what's the best method, please? Thank you so much. —Miss M. B., Lansing, Mich.

Dear M. B.: Good show! Most people need instructions when they first learn to knit. You've almost finished your first piece and the easy part's to come.

Blocking is the finishing touch for knitted garments. You may do so before or after you assemble your sweater, but since this is your first try, you might want to put it together and try it on for size first.

Now lay your work flat and cover it with a damp cloth. Press lightly and allow steam to form but don't press too hard or hold the iron too long in one place. When you've finished, measure the sweater to make sure it's the proper size. If you need to stretch it in any direction, make sure you do it while garment's still damp and then press again as before.

Get your local needlework store would be glad to help you with any little details you may have questions on, or feel free to drop me a line any time. Happy knitting. —Judy. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Get Even or Get Square?

RAP: "I'm a Donny Osmond freak too, so I can sympathize with those girls who get mad crushes. Before Donny, it was Bobby Sherman and then David Cassidy, and I don't see why people have to tease so much. I'll bet almost everybody has a secret 'person' they talk to when they're all alone.

My brother is the worst. My wildest dreams came true when I got to meet the Osmond brothers after a concert, and you know what my rotten brother did? He came up behind us and said, 'Did she tell you she was madly in love with you, Donny?" He teases about EVERYTHING!

If he keeps this up, I might run away. He's two years older and bigger than me so how can I stop him, or anyway get even? —"14"

"14": We-e-l, you could tell your brother's best girl friend that he chews his toenails and borrows your eyelash curler every morning, which might solve "getting even," but it wouldn't do a thing to "stop him."

(Take it, Mom....) —SUE
DEAR 14:
"Brothers stop teasing when someone shows them how juvenile it makes them seem. Try "looking up" to your big brother, give him compliments whenever you can, ask his advice—and when his teasing gets out of hand, act disappointed, as if you expected a lot more maturity from a nice guy like him. —HELEN

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr 19): Attention you're getting may flatter your image. It could also cause your mate to react irrationally.

TAURUS (Apr 20-May 20): Everyone seems to agree with your plans, yet there's a loose wheel that keeps things from working smoothly.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): This could be a very productive day, but if you get off on a social tangent, little will be accomplished.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Things inside the house could get hectic. Take the one you love outside with you. The world is smiling.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22): If you have a career problem, talk it over with the family—they can help. Neighbors are not invited.

VIRGO (Aug 23-Sept 22): You can be very effective in teaching youngsters certain responsibilities. Save lectures on money for later.

Organize your affairs very carefully this coming year. Allow adequate reserves—keeping an ace-in-the-hole could give you the margin of victory.

LIBRA (Sept 23-Oct 23): That extra something you're doing for those at home is warmly received. Continue along pragmatic lines.

SCORPIO (Oct 24-Nov 22): Give serious consideration to matters close to your heart. Keep your thoughts to yourself for a while yet.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23-Dec 21): Your instincts are particularly sharp concerning finances. Keep ideas practical for best results.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 19): Let your ambitions take a rest today. There are some warm, wonderful friends who make better company.

AQUARIUS (Jan 20-Feb 19): What you give of yourself for others today will later add honor to your reputation in some visible manner.

PISCES (Feb 20-Mar 20): Unexpected changes could catch you off-guard momentarily. You'll bounce right back, handle things in stride.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Gift-wrapping tips with personal touch

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—The holiday gift-wrapping season is just about here so I want to share an idea I developed last Christmas. It dawned on me that often wrappings and ribbon were more costly than the gifts inside so I saved a few Sunday newspapers and wrapped children's gifts in the comic sections, those for business men in the financial pages, a sheet from the rotogravure section showing our Colorado scenery for an out-of-town friend, the want ad section for someone wanting to make different business connections, the page with Polly's Pointers placed so they were on top of a package for a housewife, a page of recipes around the gift for a bride, and so on. I used scraps of bright knitting yarn for ties and some even had strings with a little gadget tied to it. For once my wrappings were more important than the gifts and the personal possibilities for such wrapping are endless.—IDA

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—The foam rubber mattress on our spare bed is old and developing an offensive odor and the foam also is starting to shred. Is there anything I could do to get rid of the odor short of buying a new mattress which I do not want to do. I tried spraying a well-known antiseptic deodorizing household spray and then wiping, but no luck.—DAWN

DEAR POLLY—I think it would be most considerate of prospective employers to have a form letter stating that the place has been filled and mail this to those who have applied for jobs. My Pet Peeve is the fact that we are kept holding our breath thinking we might still be eligible when someone else already has the job. How nice if such a form letter could be marked saying one's references, education or salary expected were lacking therefore the opportunity went to someone else.—AUDREY

DEAR POLLY—Do tell Mrs. J. B. that the best way to remove cotton from a pill bottle is to use eyebrow tweezers. They are slim, easy to handle and quickly grab hold of the cotton.—TERRY

DEAR POLLY—Use the detachable clip tops from worn-out ball point pens as point protectors for knitting needles and prevent any unfinished knitting from slipping off the needle.—SISTER M. S. H.

AP names All-America team

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN, Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Two players from No. 1-ranked Southern California and three from Nebraska's deposed national champions, including Heisman Trophy winner Johnny Rodgers, were named today to The Associated Press All-America football team for 1972.
Four members from the 1971 All-America team made it for the second year in a row, including Oklahoma's super runner Greg Pruitt. He was joined in the 1972 backfield by quarterback John Hufnagel of Penn State and running backs Otis Armstrong of Purdue and Woodrow Green of Arizona State.
The other repeaters are middle guard Rich Glover of Nebraska, winner of the Outland Trophy as the nation's top interior lineman, offensive tackle Jerry Sisemore of Texas and center Tom Brahaney of Oklahoma.
The third Nebraska representative is defensive end Willie Harper while top-ranked Southern Cal is represented by tight end Charles Young and sophomore linebacker Richard Wood.
Rodgers, Harper, guard John Hannah of Alabama and defensive back Robert Popelka of Southern Methodist all moved up from the second team of a year ago while Brad Van Pelt, Michigan State's towering 6-foot-5 safety, climbed from the 1971 third team.

Rounding out the elite 22-man All-America squad for 1972 are tackle John Hicks of Ohio State, guard Ron Rusnak of North Carolina, defensive end Roger Goree of Baylor, defensive tackles Greg Marx of Notre Dame and Derland Moore of Oklahoma, linebackers Randy Gradihar of Ohio State and John Skorupan of Penn State and defensive back Calvin Jones of Washington.
Wood, who calls defensive signals for Southern Cal's unbeaten Trojans, is the only sophomore on the All-America team while Green, Hicks and Gradihar are juniors.
Rodgers wound up regular season play with four National Collegiate Athletic Association records, seven Big Eight Conference marks and 19 Nebraska records. He has scored 46 touchdowns, 276 points, caught 150 passes for 2,700 yards and 26 touchdowns and has returned punts for 1,654 yards. In all-purpose running, he has an NCAA record 5,586 yards.
Hufnagel has directed Penn

State to 26 victories in 28 games since becoming the starting quarterback midway in the 1970 season. He holds nine Penn State records, including game, season and career marks for passing and total offense yardage.
Oklahoma's opponents overloaded their defenses to the outside to take away Pruitt's explosive sweeps and he didn't approach his 1,665 yards of last season. But Coach Chuck Fairbanks said he still "had a heckuva year for us."
Although he missed one Arizona State game with a knee injury, Green still galloped for 1,363 yards and 15 touchdowns. He had the professional scouts drooling even last year.
Purdue's Armstrong is likely to be a first-round pick when the National Football League does its drafting early next year. He was the only player to be named AP Back of the Week twice this season and he did it by gaining a school record 233 yards against Northwest.
Tight end Young is outstanding whether he's catching the football or blocking. "He has outstanding speed and can catch the ball," says Southern Cal Coach John McKay. "He can go deep as well as short, almost like a split receiver."

McKay also says that Southern Cal's defense deserves three-fourths of the credit for the Trojans' No. 1 ranking and Wood is the leader. "He's as fine a defensive football player as I've ever seen at this stage of development," says McKay.
Brahaney, Hannah, Sisemore and Hicks were largely responsible for their blocking for their teams' high finish in the national rushing statistics. Oklahoma was tops, while Alabama, Texas and Ohio State all wound up among the top 11. Rusnak is rated one of the finest blockers in North Carolina history.
Even though opponents hesitate to try and skirt Harper's end, he still is the key man on Nebraska's pass rush and containing the Wishbone sweep. He's big, tough and mobile with 4.6 speed over 40 yards. The other end, Baylor's Goree, was the Southwest Conference's Defensive Sophomore of the Year in 1970 and Defensive Player of the Year last season. Against Arkansas, he made 16 tackles and blocked two punts, a performance which forced the Razorbacks into punting on third down just in case he did it again.

Razorbacks lose opener

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' shooting percentage in the first half was below the freezing level here Wednesday night, and the Razorbacks lost their first game of the season, a 81-67 decision to the Illinois State Redbirds.
Senior guard Doug Collins scored 23 points to spark the Redbirds to their second victory in three games. Arkansas now is 2-1.
Trailing 50-28 as the second half began, the Razorbacks outscored Illinois State 16-2 in the opening five minutes of the half to cut the Redbirds' lead to 52-44. From there, however, Illinois State regained its shooting eye and won going away.
Senior Martin Terry fired in 29 points to pace Arkansas. It was the third consecutive game in which Terry had scored more than 20 points.
The visitors forged their big lead in the first half by hitting 53 per cent of their shots, while Arkansas hit only 28 per cent. By the time the Razorbacks regained their shooting accuracy in the second half, the outcome was already decided.

Midway through the second half, the game was stopped momentarily while head Coach Will Robinson of Illinois State, Coach Larry Van Eman of Arkansas and official Bill Cowan discussed an unfavorable reaction from the Razorback crowd. Robinson said that he and his players were pelted with paper cups while sitting on the bench apparently because of several officiating calls that went against Arkansas.
"At that time we were talking about the paper that was being thrown at us and what we could do to relieve the unpleasantness of it," Robinson said. "I don't think anybody gets used to people being discourteous. I decided to ignore them as long as they were hitting me with nothing else but paper. I disappointed the fans because I didn't participate in their frivolity."
Van Eman said that the paper throwing was a situation that needs to be stopped. "I wish we could get our students not to throw those cups," he said. "Otherwise, they're the finest fans in America."

Big Ten joins war against U.S. Olympic Committee

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten has become the first athletic conference to join the NCAA's war against the U.S. Olympic Committee.
Announcement of the conference was dropping its USOC membership—worth a modest 3 votes in the wide Olympic control spectrum—was the biggest news to emanate from the Big Ten's 3-day winter meeting which ended yesterday.
It was the initial grass roots backing of the NCAA which last October broke off from the USOC capping a long and bitter feud over conduct of the Olymp-pic program.

Commissioner Wayne Duke said the action was not a conference boycott of the Olympic movement and that individual athletes, coaches and member schools were free to cooperate in future Olympic activity.
"The Big Ten simply joins the NCAA in stressing the complete failure of the USOC in its operational procedure," said Duke. "This is no intention to impair or destroy the Olympic movement, but we hope this action will help precipitate Congressional or other remedial action."

Pacers leading division

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"Running, that's our ballgame," says Coach Bob Leonard of the Indiana Pacers.
The defending American Basketball Association champs ran away from the expansion San Diego Conquistadors 124-112 Wednesday night and they're starting to run away with the ABA's Western Division, opening a 3½-game lead over Denver and Utah.
Elsewhere, Dallas defeated Denver 110-104, Utah turned back Carolina 119-108, Kentucky trounced Virginia 119-105 and New York outlasted Memphis 101-95.
The Pacers built a whopping 25-point lead over San Diego in the first quarter but saw their bulge chopped to eight by halftime and to just four midway through the third period. They had it back up to 20, though, in the final period.

"Darnell Hillman, George McGinnis and Roger Brown got out on the fast break and just outran San Diego," Leonard said.

season with his pair.
Jude Drouin had two goals for the losers.
Buffalo beat the Rangers for the first time ever in New York as Gerry Meehan set up the tying goal and then scored the winner with less than three minutes to play.
Oakland battled from behind on a last-minute goal by newly acquired Darryl Maggs to tie Pittsburgh. Bryan Hextall put the Penguins ahead for the first time with just over four minutes remaining.
But Maggs, picked up from Chicago in a trade earlier this week, got the tying goal for the Seals with 49 seconds to play after California had lifted its goalie for an extra attacker.

Hawks lead with shutout

By HAL BOCK, Associated Press Sports Writer
Goaltender Tony Esposito and his Chicago Black Hawk teammates reached National Hockey League milestones together Wednesday night.
Esposito, who has shared the Vezina Trophy as the Hawks' best defensive record in two of the last three years, posted his first shutout of the 1972-73 season and Chicago took over first place in the West with a 6-0 victory over Los Angeles.
Meanwhile, Montreal snapped a four-game winless streak with a 6-3 triumph over Minnesota that stretched the Canadiens' East Division lead to four points over New York. The Rangers dropped a 3-2 decision to surprising Buffalo and Pittsburgh and California battled to a 4-4 tie.
In the World Hockey Association, New England nipped New York 4-3 and Winnipeg walloped Chicago 7-1.
Esposito, who had 31 shutouts in his first three full NHL seasons, blocked 29 shots to blank the Kings. Meanwhile, Dennis Hull took care of the offense with two goals as the Black Hawks squeezed one point ahead of Minnesota.
The North Stars were stung by Jacques Lemaire and Yvan Cournoyer, who scored two goals apiece to lead the Canadiens to their victory.
The Canadiens honored old coach Toe Blake before the game, presenting him with a punch bowl in the shape of the Stanley Cup that his Montreal teams won eight times.
Lemaire boosted his NHL goal-scoring lead to 24 for the season with his pair.

SWC opens winter meetings

DALLAS (AP) — The Southwest Conference opened its winter meeting today with one of the topics to be discussed the withdrawal of membership from the U.S. Olympic Committee.
The NCAA has quit the U.S. Olympic Committee, calling for extensive reorganization of that Olympic body.
The NCAA has asked its 780 member colleges not to help raise money for the 1976 Olympic games.
The Big Ten Conference withdrew Wednesday from the body.
A press conference will be held at 4:30 p.m. CST Saturday by the SWC.
Athletic directors and head football coaches met today and will be joined Friday and Saturday by faculty representatives and member institution presidents.

Spell of hard times over?

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Notre Dame's once feared Fighting Irish have snapped an eight-game losing streak in college basketball and hope their spell of hard times in the sport has ended.

Unranked in the Associated Press Top Twenty, the Irish won their first game of the new season by turning back Valparaiso Wednesday night 82-72. They had lost their last six games last season and their first two of the current campaign.

Perhaps looking ahead to a Dec. 23 meeting with UCLA's mighty national champions Irish Coach "Digger" Phelps used numerous players against the Valpos at South Bend. "I wanted to give our kids confidence and I wanted to see whether they could come off the bench and play," Phelps said. "We're satisfied."

John Shumate, with 24 points, and Gary Brokaw, with 23, led the Irish. John Wolfenbarger of the Crusaders took high game honors with 26. Pennsylvania, Southwestern Louisiana and Oral Roberts were the only teams in this AP rankings to see action. The ninth-ranked Quakers crushed The Citadel 87-34, the Ragin' Cajuns, No. 10, routed Pan American 111-77 and No. 12 Oral Roberts whipped Idaho State 95-52.

Dwight Lamar tossed in 30 points for the Cajuns, but Reese Stovall of Pan American led all scorers with 36. Richard Fuqua paced Oral Roberts with 31.

Penn overcame a Citadel stall in winning the second game of a tripleheader at the Palestra in Philadelphia. In the opener 1-2 Salle edged Biucayne 69-67. Oregon State defeated Temple 56-50 in the concluding game.

Oral Roberts' triumph was the windup of a doubleheader at Tulsa. Texas A&M scored a 67-44 overtime victory over Oklahoma State in the opener on Cedric Joseph's key basket with 47 seconds left. John Brown tallied a career high of 38 points in leading Missouri over Purdue 84-75. Drake beat Butler 83-68, Oklahoma edged Samford 55-51, Chicago Loyola turned back the St. Mary Gaels 92-88 and Colorado trimmed Tulane 97-86. Villanova beat Niagara 67-62, Georgetown's Hoyas whipped

St. Bonaventure 73-0, Holy Cross took Connecticut 95-89 and Iowa surprised Army 82-64. In other games Mississippi State went overtime to down South Alabama 72-67, Texas Tech put down Nevada-Las Vegas 67-56, Wake Forest humbled William and Mary 86-71 and Illinois State tripped Arkansas 81-57.

3 in SWC make All-America team list

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three Southwest Conference players from Texas, Baylor and Southern Methodist made The Associated Press football All-America team announced today.

On offense, Texas offensive tackle Jerry Slaughter won first team honors for the second time. Slaughter, 6 feet 4 3/8 pounds from Plainview, Tex., anchored a strong running line on the SWC championship team.

On defense, SWC Defensive Player of the Year Roger Goree of Baylor made the first team as an end, and Robert Popelka of SMU earned top honors as a defensive back. Goree is from Baton Rouge, La., and Popelka is a Temple, Tex., native.

Two more Longhorns made the second team, joining a Texas Tech Red Raider and a Rice Owl. SWC Offensive Player of the Year Roosevelt Leaks, only a sophomore, was picked in the second team backfield. Tight end Gary Butler of Rice also made the second team offense.

Donald Rives of Texas Tech was given the second team defensive middle guard spot, leaving only Rich Glover of Nebraska, a high vote-getter in Helman Trophy balloting, ahead of Rives at that position. Junior Texas linebacker Glen Gaspard also made the second team defensive squad.

Defensive tackle Charlie Davis of Texas Christian was the only SWC player to make the All-America third team.

Conference players given honorable mention on offense were wide receiver Edwin Collins of Rice, tackle Ron Woodmon of Rice, guards Guy Morris of TCU and Travis Roach of Texas, center Russell Ingram of Texas Tech, quarterback Alan Lowry of Texas, and running backs Mike Luttrell of TCU and Alvin Maxson of SMU.

Honorable mentions on defense were end Malcolm Minnick of Texas, tackle Louis Keicher of SMU, linebackers Randy Braband of Texas and Grady Hoermann of Texas A&M, and backs Lyle Blackwood of TCU, Bruce Henley of Rice and Robert Muraski of Texas A&M.

Also winning honorable mention were Greg Taylor of the University of Texas at El Paso, a wide receiver and Hurler Scales of North Texas State, a defensive back.

In 1973 Penn State's football team will play home games against Iowa, Army, West Virginia, North Carolina State, Ohio University and Pitt.

Bob Brown to Oakland Raiders:

'No way I'll play here next year'

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

OAKLAND, Calif.—(NEA)—The dissatisfaction of Robert Stanford Brown is as immense as he is. It has driven the huge all-pro offensive right tackle of the Oakland Raiders to state categorically: "There is no way I'll play here next year."

It came at a time of presumed elation, when the Raiders had virtually clinched the Western Division, title of the American Football Conference by trouncing their arch-rival Kansas City Chiefs, 26-3.

But Bob Brown was unhappy because he felt his talents had been neglected. The Raiders, in pushing the Chiefs around, had run four out of every five plays to the left side of the field, away from Bob Brown.

And he seethed, the dark pupils of his eyes in their sea of white glittering ominously. The furies had been building up in him for five successive weeks, in which the Raiders became virtually a left-handed running team. Now he spouted them at the moment of victory.

"It's ludicrous to pay me an astronomical salary (he's in the $100,000 class, the highest paid offensive tackle in football) and not make use of me."

"I'm supposed to be the best. Well, they're wasting their money and I'm wasting my time. I'm so p— that I'm ready to tell them to kiss my black bottom."

"I'm just not used to this. I'm not going to be a decoy in football. I got too many good things to do. I'm supposed to be the All-Pro."

"I'm happy for the guys and happy they won—this is the best bunch of guys I ever played with—but they can get a guy out of a bar to do what I do."

"I try to rationalize it but I don't know the answer. I can't figure it. In the fourth quarter they know that Bob's burned so they give me a couple of token plays. Big deal. Now I'm really burning."

The root of his unhappiness sprouted the last week in October when the Raiders routed Los Angeles and in doing so ran their first 14 plays to the left side of the line. Coach John Madden explained then they were taking advantage of the Rams' young defensive tackle, Phil Olsen. But the pattern of running left has persisted.

Traditionally, most teams in football run to the right, the way most people are right-handed. The Raiders have discovered success, however, with an "east" formation which puts the tight end on the left side of the line and the two wide receivers flanked on the right.

Charlie Smith, their running back, has been averaging 100 yards a game, taking handoffs from quarterback Daryle Lamonica and darting to his left behind the blocking of guard Gene Upshaw and tackle Art Shell.

That leaves the men on the right side of the line, guard George Buehler and Brown, executing passive cutoff blocks, which means they only have to get in the way of the defenders.

"It makes my job that much harder," fumed Brown. "The guys playing opposite me start edging wider because they figure eventually the play's got to come my way. Then I have to try to hook 'em from that position."

"These coaches must think I got a big 'S' on the front of my shirt."

Daryle Lamonica, the quarterback who calls the plays for the Raiders, denies any premeditation in ignoring Brown's talents as a primary blocker.

"It was in our game plan to run the right side more," he said after the Kansas City game, "but I've just been successful going the other way. We seem to be getting off on the ball better on the left side. As a quarterback, I got to go by what I feel."

"Against the Chiefs, the Raiders ran only 11 of 53 running plays toward Brown's side."

"I could say why all our plays go to the left but I won't," said George Blanda, the aging reserve quarterback. "I told Daryle in the second quarter maybe he ought to mix it up more. But it's true when we need the tough yardage we always seem to run to the left."

A veteran in the Oakland organization said, "Well you know Daryle's not a very smart quarterback. It's ridiculous to run everything one way when you've got two great linemen in Brown and Buehler over on the other side."

"It's a pride thing," explained Buehler, not happy about the turn of running events either, but less emotional than Brown. "You want to hit the other guy and prove you're a better man. Bob likes to fire out and hit people. On a cutoff block, you can't intimidate a guy the way Bob wants too."

At 6-4 and 275 pounds, most of it concentrated in his shoulders and rear end, Bob Brown has been the National Football League's most awesome lineman since 1964. He has also been a blunt individualist. After five frustrating years with the Philadelphia Eagles, a perennial loser, he asked to be traded and was sent to the Rams. After two seasons with the Rams, he was unhappy again (he felt underpaid) and was shipped to Oakland in 1971.

"Without getting Lombardi-ish," he once said, "I detest losing."

Winning, apparently, isn't the complete antidote unless it includes using the blocking talents of Bob Brown.

"You know, I'm the champion of being traded," he growled. "Well, I tell you I'm going to be gone. This is ridiculous. I can't play football here."

76ers settle for third place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Apollo 7ers are heading for the moon but the Philadelphia 76ers will settle for third place in the National Basketball Association's Atlantic Division.

The 76ers are a long way from the moon but they're just 3 1/2 games behind the Buffalo Braves following Wednesday night's 122-117 triumph over the Kansas City-Omaha Kings, only their third success in 27 starts.

Elsewhere, Baltimore whipped Portland 115-102 and Phil Chenier set a club regulation-time record with 53 points, Seattle took Milwaukee 95-91 and Detroit downed Phoenix 114-105.

John K. Trapp scored 10 of his career-high 35 points in the fourth period to pace the 76ers over the Kings. He gave Philadelphia the lead for good at 104-102 on a jumper with 7 1/2 minutes left. Fred Carter, who scored 28 points, and Kevin Loughery, who added 23, then combined for 10 points as the 76ers opened a 117-109 bulge.

KC-Omaha's Nate Archibald scored 34 points and added 10 assists, but he felt he had a bad night after hitting only 12 of 39 floor shots. "They gave me the jump, but I missed a lot of shots," he said.

Baltimore's Chenier hit on 22 of 31 shots—he scored 13 points in the final period to help stave off a Portland rally—and erased the 49 points scored by Earl Monroe when he was with the Bullets. However, Monroe scored 56 points when that game went into overtime for the over-all club record. Geoff Petrie topped Portland with 36.

The pro quarterbacks-by their statistics ye shall be confused

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — To locate the best quarterback from the weekly swarm of printed numbers is a formidable task.

Every week, a glop of stats is issued from the office of the National Football League. There are statistics on pass receivers and rushers, punters and punt returners, scorers and interceptors. And madly, passing.

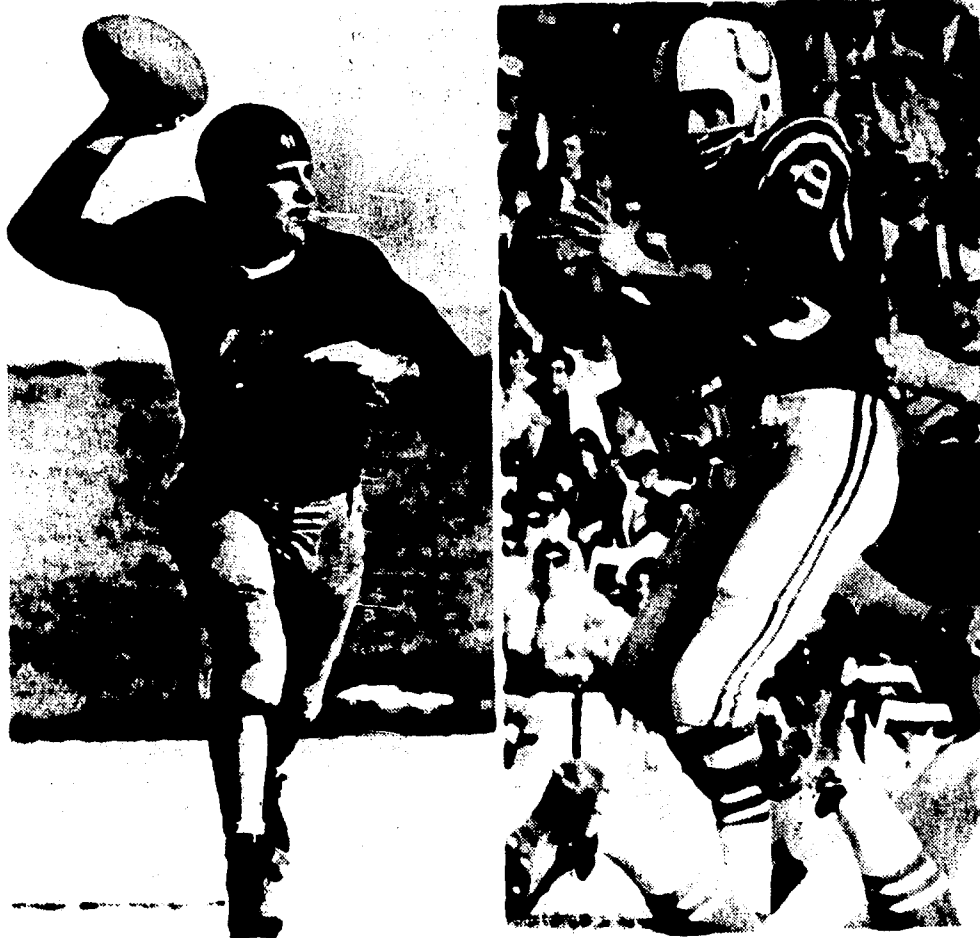

A reader may tell at a satisfying glance who is the highest scorer by the total number of points scored, who is the busiest pass receiver by number of passes received, and so on. These statistics are voluminously lined up like so many blockers and one may follow easily behind them to the goal.

Not so for quarterbacks. There is at once an abstruse and ephemeral system worked out. Abstruse because even once you penetrate its foggy mystery, you are still not sure where you stand. Ephemeral because new systems pop up as often as the instant clichés of football, like "crackback" now, and like "red dog" yesterday.

Today's quarterback rankings are determined by four categories: passing percentages based on attempts against completions, the percentage of touchdown passes made against number of passes completed, the percentage of interceptions thrown against number of passes thrown, and the average yards gained per attempt. Line all these numbers up and compare them, giving a one to the best and a two and a three and on down to each quarterback in each category. Add each. Lowest number wins.

Now, these weekly statistics should be an absorbing if transitory experience, like a brief love affair. The beauty is in the rainbow brevity. At odd future moments one may recall and savor the statistics and perhaps seek some real or dream-like meaning in them.

Yet the numbers flirt and

flutter in the imagination, peeping out from one pillar of truth only to slip away and quickly pop up meaning something else to us. Maybe by this elusive quality we are being told the fact of the matter: there is no way to determine by cold figures the best quarterback, that the human qualities of leadership and derring-do and audible bellowing are beyond the strengths of stiff type.

Queer things happen right before the weekly reader's eyes. One week Johnny Unitas is fifth in passing in the AFC. That week he comes in for one play, is sacked and fumbles. The next week he rises to second in passing because the quarterbacks ranked ahead of him had even more doleful days.

The question of who should get credit for a gain by a forward pass is another problem facing the stats men. A short passer like Len Dawson, for example, may throw a swing-out and then watch his pass receiver go 60 yards with the ball. That is credited as a 60-yard pass by Dawson. Some also felt that Milt Plum, who twice led the NFL in passing, should have shared his title with Cleveland teammate Jim Brown, who took flare-out flips and converted them into gigantic yardage.

So we know that passing is not a wholly individual thing: the quality of pocket blocking, resiny receiver's fingers, zone defenses and game plans also beset the stats freak.

In the last couple of years, the NFL office has lateralized the stats job to the highly competent and loving hands of the Elias Sports Bureau. One of the first acts by Elias was to try to make the passing stats a thing of meaning.

The quarterback ranking had changed almost yearly: it went into a cocoon in the spring and came out a new butterfly by fall.

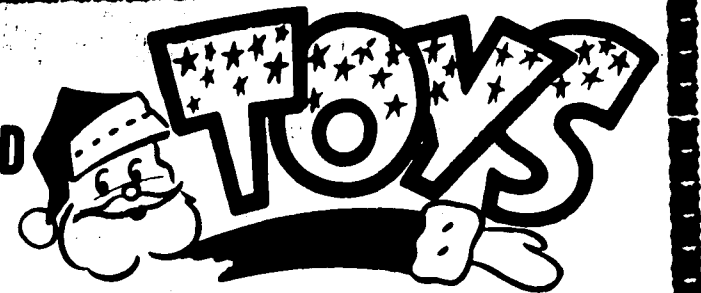

In 1945, for example, the top passer was picked by the percentage of completions. Sammy Baugh was number one. If that system was used today, seventh on the AFC one week (John Hadl, on Nov. 21) would have been first.

In 1954, the rankings were based on average yardage gained. The leader was Norm Van Brocklin. On that recent week of Nov. 21 in the AFC, leader Marty Domres would have been about 13th if the 1954 system were used and No. 5 Joe Namath would be No. 1.

"It is all rather obtuse," said Rocky Avakian, vice president of the Elias Bureau, a confessed stats nut. "But it's fun—I think."

Doubling of staff in White House noticed

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Nixon's move to slash the White House staff is spurred by little-noticed statistics showing that executive-office employment has doubled in his first term.

Nixon himself acknowledged last week that the "White House staff has grown rather like Topsy." He promised that as he shakes up the bureaucracy and trims personnel "the biggest cuts will be made in the White House staff itself."

The President gave no figures on White House employment or on the size of the proposed cutback. Neither would White House spokesmen.

But an examination of monthly reports published by the Civil Service Commission shows that since Nixon moved into the White House in January 1969 the executive-office staff has increased from 1,748 to 3,562.

More than 1,000 of the new employees were added to the executive office rolls during a 12-month period when federal agencies faced a presidentially ordered 5-per-cent cutback.

The sharp upswing in executive-office employment also bucked the government-wide trend. When Nixon came into office, there were 2,948,393 federal civilian employees, nearly 200,000 more than now.

The columns of fine print in the monthly personnel reports include the more than 600 employees of the White House office—the aides and advisers closest to the President—as well as staffers in a variety of offices, councils, and commissions grouped under the heading "the executive office of the President."

White House officials say—and the statistics confirm—that a portion of the increase can be attributed to new functions taken on by the executive office.

These include, for example, the Cost of Living Council set up to police wage-price controls. At last report, the council had grown from 0 to 966 employees in less than a year.

Officials also cited a change in bookkeeping methods as a reason for the upswing in employment statistics. Until 1970, they said, presidents had obscured the size of their personal staffs by having salaries paid through other agencies or through the White House "special projects" fund.

Nixon ordered that all his White House employees be listed as such, one spokesman said, "in the interest of candor and accuracy."

Thus, the reported size of the elite White House office staff jumped suddenly from about 250 to about 500. At last report it had grown to 606.

Major increases occurred elsewhere in the executive offices unrelated to any change in bookkeeping methods.

Henry Kissinger's National Security Council lists 80 employees, about double the size of the pre-Kissinger staff.

John Ehrlichman's Domestic Council staff has grown from 25 employees in late 1970 to 50 but still is smaller than other lesser known executive offices.

For example, the Office of Telecommunications Policy lists 68 employees, the Office of Science and Technology reports 79, the Council on Environmental Quality, 68, and the Council of Economic Advisers, 58.

The Office of Management and Budget, which has assumed a broader watchdog role over government spending and employment, has seen its own payroll go up from $35 early in Nixon's administration to $69 at last report.

The latest figure of 3,563 executive-office employees does not include 2,300 persons employed by the poverty-fighting Office of Economic Opportunity, which, in some government publications, is listed under the President's executive office.

If OEO employees are included, executive-office employment reaches about 5,800, or 1,000 more than the comparable figure when Nixon took office and initiated policies and proposals that have resulted in slimmed-down OEO operations.

While the President has not specified precisely where White House personnel cuts will be made, he has said they will be substantial.

Talking on Nov. 27 to reporters, Nixon said: "I felt from the beginning that it was important that the White House establish the example for the balance of government in terms of cutting down on personnel, doing a better job with fewer people."

"Consequently, while there will be personnel cuts across the government, throughout the departments, the biggest cuts will be made in the White House staff itself."

When Franklin D. Roosevelt began his third term nearly three decades ago, records show the White House office staff numbered 51.

When Harry Truman was midway through his term the staff numbered 243 and there were 1,100 other employees in executive offices.

The total included during Dwight Eisenhower's years in the White House, reached 1,500 when John Kennedy was president, topped 1,700 under Lyndon Johnson and now exceeds 3,500.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Low blood sugar can be controlled

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I feel compelled to write after reading your recent articles on low blood sugar. This disorder has colored much of my life. One doctor removed my appendix in hopes of reducing chronic stomach discomfort and the appendix was healthy. I have been hospitalized four times and consulted with two psychiatrists, and have been subjected to sleep treatments as well.

My most traumatic experience occurred 10 years ago after I had been 11 years in religious teaching in the Order of Franciscan Monks. I had my most serious bouts of what I now know was low blood sugar and was hospitalized. My worst experiences occurred when I ate too little or the wrong things.

One doctor tested me for low blood sugar but only did a three-hour test, maintaining that it wasn't necessary to do a longer sugar tolerance test. As you would know, the findings were in the normal range. Later I went to an excellent clinic and they gave me a sugar tolerance test for a much longer period and the low blood sugar was significant during the fourth hour. I wanted to write and suggest that anybody who has this problem and is tested for it should be wary of a short test. They should have one that is at least four hours long.

To make a long story short, after my diagnosis and proper arrangement of my eating habits, I am through with years of sedative type medicines and pill popping. I am beginning to feel like a human being again. I am in love with living and my job. I even like myself and look forward to the next half century with great anticipation.

Dear Reader—Thank you for sharing your experience with others. It is true that most cases of low blood sugar or hypoglycemia require at least a four-hour and sometimes a six-hour test. Of course, if a serious episode of low blood sugar occurs early in the test, it is not necessary to continue the procedure.

Although many cases of low blood sugar are caused by living habits, including improper diet, there are rare cases caused by other problems. To detect these sometimes longer tests are needed. Low blood sugar and many other problems that people experience are often related to some of their living habits particularly diet and can frequently be corrected. When this is true, this is a much better approach than administering medicines and not correcting the underlying problem. Many of the people who have a dietary problem do very well on a diet which restricts the amount of sugar and sweets in the diet and starchy foods with an increase in the portion of their diet from proteins and some fat. More frequent small meals often help some individuals too.

Not all cases of low blood sugar are caused by diet. Some people can't absorb food properly from the digestive tract. Emotional factors contribute to the cause in some instances. Prolonged fasting and physical exhaustion can also be a cause. One should not assume the problem is low blood sugar without a proper medical evaluation.

Troops in Europe will stay

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer

BRUSSELS (AP) — President Nixon tells America's European allies today that he plans to keep 300,000 U.S. troops in Europe until mid-1974 — provided the Europeans do their share in their defense and unless there is an agreement with the Soviets on reduction of forces.

Nixon's message was brought to the semiannual meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization by Secretary of State William P. Rogers. It was previewed Wednesday by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, who predicted to newsmen that Congress would approve the President's recommendation.

Rogers and the other 14 NATO foreign ministers were to devote much of their time in their meetings today and Friday to planning for negotiations with the Russians on a mutual, balanced reduction of forces in central Europe. They are awaiting a reply from Moscow to their invitation to begin exploratory talks on Jan. 31.

U.S. officials say the NATO allies would like to see:

—A cut in the Soviet force that can be used for such political purposes as maneuvers close to the NATO borders.

—Some bar on the use of Soviet force for political ends, like the invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968.

—Reduction in the risk from "equivocal military activity," for example, by keeping troops farther away from critical borders so there is time to assess what a sudden movement means.

—Limits on the forces which either side sees as a threat, such as the heavy Soviet tank concentration in Eastern Europe and the U.S. advantage in tactical nuclear weapons.

Rogers, British Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home, French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann and West German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel held their traditional preconference dinner meeting to discuss German problems Wednesday night.

Rogers, Douglas-Home and Schumann agreed that they would not open embassies in East Germany until after West Germany ratifies its recent treaty to normalize relations with the German Communist state.

The other NATO allies are expected to follow the lead of the Big Three. The two German governments are to sign the treaty on Dec. 21, and a U.S. official predicted that ratification would be completed by April or May.

NEW SIRENS

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP) — Metro Niagara police cruisers are being equipped with new type sirens and red and white flashers to make the cruisers more noticeable when they are responding to emergency calls.

The new electronic siren can easily be heard by a motorist with his windows up and radio on, police spokesman said.

Rookie officer kills man holding a hostage

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Police say a rookie officer shot and killed a 31-year-old man who was holding a woman hostage with a gun at her head in a downtown Atlanta loan company.

The slain man was identified as Larry Lee Miner, 31, from Columbus, Ohio.

According to police, the gunman had held up a nearby employment office Wednesday and had taken a woman clerk, Teresa Mathis, 18, as hostage. He then entered the loan company.

Patrolman R. S. Johnson, 22, said that when he answered a call to the loan company he saw "the man holding the young woman with a gun on her. He was shouting that he'd kill her."

"He backed up against a wall with her. Some of the officers moved around to another door. He turned slightly to glance at them and dropped her down a little."

"His profile was exposed for a second and I fired."

Johnson, a member of the force for less than a year, said the bullet struck the gunman in the head.

"I wasn't afraid of hitting the girl," Johnson said. "I knew I could put the shot where I wanted it. What I was afraid of was that his reflexes would cause him to fire his gun and he might shoot her."

Earl Butz to stay on as agri secretary

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon had just re-enlisted Earl L. Butz as secretary of agriculture Wednesday and the quick-tongued farm boss was asked about it.

"He didn't say for how long, did he?" Butz remarked to newsmen. "It may be only 'til he can get a successor, I don't know."

It was taken as a jest, typical of the man, and there were chuckles. But was it only another Butzism?

Some people, including a few of his associates, think Butz may be tempted to quit of his own accord in the near future while he is still "way ahead in terms of farm popularity."

But a few minutes later, warning to his subject, Butz said he was very flattered and proud to continue on the Nixon team.

"After 12 months, I'm just getting comfortable in this job," he said.

Over the long haul, his job in the second Nixon term is fairly well-defined: new farm legislation, implementation of new rural-development programs, and the nuts-and-bolts of spending an $11-billion annual budget.

But the immediate future is cloudy. What does Nixon mean when he says the Agriculture Department will undergo a major shakeup as the White House announced Wednesday? Butz refused to comment about specific plans for overhauling the century-old department. There will be changes, he said, including personnel reductions and switches as well as organizational face-lifts.

Details of those, Butz said, will be announced by the White House in due course.

Butz was chosen to succeed

Clifford M. Hardin a year ago, as his work on the campaign trail later proved, to help re-elect Nixon. A year ago, farmers were grumbling about low prices and Republicans feared repercussions at the polls.

Butz fell heir to a remarkably beneficial series of events.

Livestock prices began climbing, eventually to record highs, bumper crops came along for harvest, and inflation began easing a bit.

Sen. George McGovern and the Democratic party once thought they had a farm issue in sagging crop prices, growing surpluses of grain and the makings of a real farm depression.

But an astonishing sale of grain—mostly wheat—came to light last summer which did much to bail the GOP out of the farm stew.

All told, about $1.2 billion worth of wheat, corn and soybeans was sold to Russia. The sales triggered a sudden boost in farm prospects, including the highest wheat prices in a decade.

The timing of the export developments and the price increases helped pacify farm discontent and Butz claimed much of the credit for the Nixon administration.

POW's wife hopes for end of war by Christmas holidays

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Vietnam peace talks drag on, but for the first Christmas in the nearly seven years her husband has been a prisoner of war, Louise Mulligan is willing to hope.

"You get frustrated by the talks. There's nothing you can do," said Mrs. Mulligan, wife of Cmdr. James A. Mulligan, a Navy pilot. "But now I honestly feel the war is going to end by Christmas."

Could ask for death penalty for a 'pusher'

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — As a prosecuting attorney, Sam Weems of Stuttgart told a committee of legislators Wednesday that he could "in good conscience" ask for the death penalty for a "hard-core" drug pusher if such a penalty existed.

The committee is conducting a hearing on drug problems in the state and whether there is a need for additional drug-control legislation.

"There is not a penalty strong enough for this type of individual," Weems said. Later, however, he said he was not advocating institution of the death penalty for pushing drugs, but that a stern penalty should be available because "what they do to these kids — they're producing a menace and turning it loose on society."

Weems said there had been an increase of 25 to 30 per cent in crime in his district and that it was the direct result of the drug problem.

"They are young people by and large who are committing crimes to support their habit," the prosecutor said. He said the "drug problem goes the whole gamut of our society in our district — the rich, poor black and white."

Weems called for an overhaul of the penalty provisions of the state's drug control law. He also said facilities should be developed to treat young addicts.

He said he did not think the present drug control law was strong enough on pushers. He endorsed the new provision in the law providing for a "rebuttable presumption" that a person who possesses a certain amount of illegal drugs possesses it for sale, a felony offense.

West was on lead and had to either give Z a ruff and discard or lead a club with equally fatal results.

"It worked this time," said West, "but only because I held just two diamonds."

"Nonsense," said Z. "If you had another diamond or both other diamonds you would have set up a diamond trick in dummy for me if you led the suit."

Honey to lead fight for the release of James Dean Walker

By JIM MCCALL
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Rep. Charles L. "Chuck" Honey of Prescott says he will head a delegation that will appear Dec. 16 at a meeting of the state Board of Pardons and Paroles to ask that a parole be granted to James Dean Walker, 32, of Reno, Nev.

Walker is serving a life sentence at Tucker Intermediate Reformatory for the April 16, 1968 slaying of North Little Rock policeman Jerrell P. Vaughn.

Honey said there would be about 25 persons in the delegation, including some other legislators. He declined to name anyone who would appear with him.

Honey said he had notified the board that he would appear and had also asked the state Correction Department for a report on disciplinary action that was taken against Walker in August.

Walker, who had been assistant to the chaplain at Tucker, was relieved of all his duties as assistant chaplain.

Correction Commissioner

Terrell Don Hutto said that Walker had been disciplined for fighting. He said that Walker was found to be the aggressor in a fight that occurred near the Tucker chapel.

"I had heard that another inmate was smoking and using profanity in the chapel and James asked him to leave," Honey said. "And when the inmate refused to leave, Walker threw him out and the fight began."

Honey said he thought Walker's punishment was too severe.

"I expect that you could get a Baptist preacher to fight someone who was smoking and cussing in the church house," Honey said. "If what I heard is true, I don't think he should have been relieved at the chapel."

Honey said he had talked with Walker and had heard him speak in various churches and at civic meetings around the state.

"I'm very much impressed with him," Honey said. "I think he is a changed man. And once an individual has changed his outlook on life, I think he should be given the opportunity to re-enter society."

Honey said the group favoring parole of Walker was formed by him because he had become "personally interested" in Walker's case.

This is really kind of ironic," Honey said. "I really have a hard-nosed outlook on law and order, but I really do believe James Walker is ready to go back to society."

"It really doesn't matter how long a man has been in the penitentiary. At some point, we need to decide whether we are interested in retribution or re-modeling people."

Walker was tried twice for the shooting of Vaughn. After the first trial he was sentenced to die in the electric chair, but that conviction was reversed by the state Supreme Court.

Following his second conviction, he was sentenced to life in prison.

He was twice denied executive clemency—in December of 1969 and in December of 1970.

In 1970, when former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller was considering Walker's case, the North Little Rock Fraternal Order of Police organized opposition to the possibility of clemency.

There were several demonstrations and a group that included a number of policemen appeared before the Board of Pardons and Paroles to voice opposition to clemency for Walker.

Prior to being disciplined in August Walker was granted a five-day meritorious furlough by the state Correction Board which said that Walker's conduct had been "outstanding."

DOLLS FOR CHRISTMAS—Pictured above are dolls which will be wrapped and delivered to the Southside Child Development Center here. Girl Scout Troop 311 spent more than a month making toys to share with the children in the center. The Scouts, after holding a regular meeting at the Center with the children in attendance, decided to make toys and prove that "Christmas is sharing." The troop leader is Mrs. Gail Sinyard.

More talks on VN peace

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho resumed their secret talks today shortly after an American spokesman said there might be "disappointments and setbacks" in the pace of final peace negotiations.

Before the private peace session resumed in the Paris suburb of Gif-sur-Yvette, the acting U.S. delegate, Heyward Isham told the semipublic peace talks that prospects for peace were brighter but added: "The negotiating process has not yet reached its final conclusion."

Nguyen Minh Vy of North Vietnam told the weekly meeting that the Saigon government's objections to the draft Kissinger and Tho worked out in October have "again pushed the negotiations into a deadlock."

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh of the Viet Cong denied speculation in the Paris press that a peace agreement was imminent.

Kissinger and Tho maintained their usual news blackout around their negotiations.

But Isham reported progress, saying:

"Most of the major problems involved in the settlement have been resolved in a manner that reflects credit on the good will and seriousness of both sides."

Mrs. Binh was the only one of the chief delegates attending the session today. U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter was reported suffering from a cold and severe laryngitis; Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam was presumably preoccupied with the Kissinger-Tho meetings, which he also attends, and Pham Dang Lam of South Vietnam also sent his deputy.

At the end of a two-hour session, the second shortest of the four-year-old conference, the delegations agreed to meet again next Thursday as usual.

The U.S. delegation spokesman, David Lambertson, said: "We remain confident that all parties will be reached soon." He did not elaborate.

Several Paris newspapers and the government-controlled French Radio speculated that Kissinger and Tho might conclude a cease-fire agreement today. This speculation apparently stemmed from French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann's decision to return from the NATO meeting in Brussels for a luncheon meeting with Kissinger today.

Kissinger requested the meeting, and Schumann had to leave the meeting of NATO foreign ministers only a few hours after it began. There was speculation that President Nixon's chief foreign policy adviser had important news about his cease-fire negotiations with Tho, the Hanoi Politburo member he has been meeting with secretly for the past year.

Nhan Dan, the official North Vietnamese newspaper, said there can be no peace until the South Vietnamese regime agrees to release all political prisoners, but this did not rule out a cease-fire agreement between the United States and North Vietnam.

The draft agreement Kissinger and Tho negotiated in October provides for the release of military prisoners by both sides within 60 days of signing but leaves the release of other prisoners to negotiations between Saigon and the Viet Cong.

Kissinger and Tho met for 5½ hours Wednesday but as usual maintained a complete news "blackout." They shook hands warmly at the start and end of the session in a suburban villa, lunched there together, and walked in the garden, conversing in a lively and apparently friendly way.

More funds for Vo-Tech recommended

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — It was recommended Wednesday that the state Board for Vocational Education seek an additional $2.5 million in the first year of the 1973-75 biennium and $3 million in the second year for secondary vocational programs.

That recommendation came from the Arkansas Advisory Council for Vocational-Technical Education.

Lanny W. Hassell, executive director of the council, said vocational education in the current fiscal year received about $1.5 million, or about 1 per cent of the total state educational budget.

The council also called for dissolution of the state Board for Vocational Education and the creation of a separate autonomous Board of Occupational Education with its own director.

This new board would be on the same level as the Board of Higher Education.

The council, which serves only in an advisory capacity to the governor, said Arkansas could take advantage of recently enacted federal legislation affecting vocational education if a separate and equal state Board of Occupational Education were created. At present, the state Board of Education also serves as the Board of Vocational Education.

The council also recommended that Arkansas participate in the new federal Vocational Education program and to seek federal assistance provided for under it.

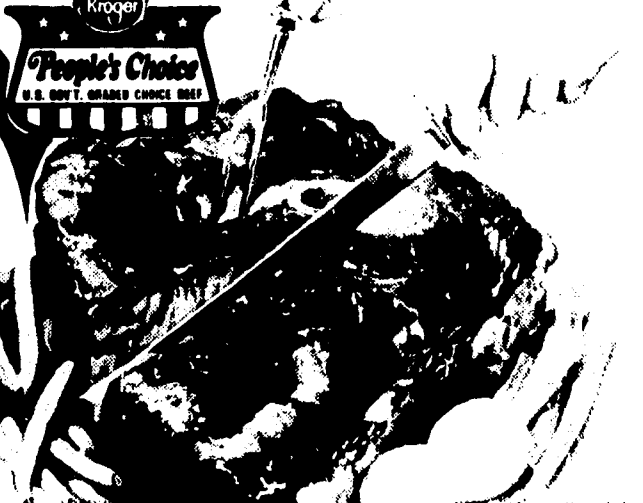

Founded by Royalty William and Mary College at Williamsburg, Va., was founded through a charter and funds granted by King William II and Queen Mary II of England.
